Students seeking admission to the Department of Art and Art History for studio art and graphic design programs (not Art History) must first be admitted to UNC Charlotte and then must submit a portfolio in early spring and be accepted into the art or graphic design major before beginning any studio art courses in the fall. Yearly portfolio application deadlines will be listed on Undergraduate Admissions and Department of Art and Art History websites (<http://coaa.charlotte.edu/academics/department-of-art-art-history/admissions>).

Admitted students interested in the BFA in Art will take specific concentration-related coursework in their first semesters enrolled at UNC Charlotte, and then apply with a second portfolio to the BFA concentration. Students interested in pursuing a BFA in Art or the BFA in Graphic Design should note that BFA programs typically take 5-7 semesters to complete from time of entry in the major at UNC Charlotte due to pre-requisite and sequencing.

Foreign Language proficiency through UNC Charlotte’s 1202 level is required for the BA Art History, the BA Art, and the BFA Concentration in Art Education; proficiency through the 1201 level is required for all other concentrations under the BFA in Art and the BFA in Graphic Design.
